HOOSIERS VISIT CITY OF SAINTS

Distinguished Party in Salt Lake.

Ex-Gov. Durbin and Three State Officials Among Them.

All Are Heavily Interested in the Black Diamond Mine in Tooele County.

ost distinguished and genial party of Hooslers arrived yesterday in a specia car attached to Rio Grande No. 5 and registered at the Kenyon. The party is made up of ex-Gov. Winfield T. Durbin and Mrs. Durbin of Anderson, Ind., Attorney-General and Mrs. Charles W. Miller, Secretary of State Daniel E. Storms and State Oil Inspector T. II. Johnson.

Interested in Utah Mines, These gentlemen are all heavily inter-ested in the Black Diamond mine, one of the most promising properties in Toocle county, and they are out for a conference with Manager W. C. Alexander and to look over the property. To this end they will have their car attached to the Stock-ton train of the Salt Lake Route this morning and will pass the day at the mine and plant.

Not Strangers Here.

They are not strangers to Utah, as since investing in local property, they have visited the city before, and judging from what they said last evening, they look upon this State as a good field for investment They were entertained during the day and evening by Mr. Alexander, a dinner and theater party being the programme for last evening. Is Congenial Party.

Seldom has a more congenial party been found at a local hotel, and their visit aside from their business relations locally, is of interest owing to the promi-nence of the men themselves in that fa-mous political center, Indiana, and in ad-dition to their official prominence the visitors are delightful persons to inse-socially.

Hoosiers Proud of Durbin.

Ex-Gox. Durbin will always have a warm spot in the hearts of Indiana prople, as he is the man who refused to honor the requisition of Gov. Beckham of Kentucky for the return to Kentucky of Goy. Taylor and Secretary of State Findley for alleged complicity in the assassination of Goebel, the case being one of international fame. Hanley Must Follow Durbin.

And it is of interest in this connection to add that when Attorney-General Miller was asked last evening if the present Governor, J. Frank Hanley, would honor such a requisition, he replied that the matter had not as yet come before Gov. Hanley, but that he would not issue the requisition; on the contrary, he would pursue the same course as that laid out by Gov. Durbin.

Will Visit the Mine.

Will Visit the Mine.

Gov. Durbin was seen at the Kenyon just as he was about to start for the theater, and when asked for an interview on general topics he very pleasantly consented, but added that he really had little time to communicate. He is out here with the others to look over the mine and see what developments have been made since their last visit and what is necessary for future work in the same line. Some excellent strikes have been made, and the work of development is seemingly upon a most satisfactory basis, but has to any details of the future work he could not give an outline, at least not he could not give an outline, at least no before the party had inspected the prop Utah as Place to Invest.

Asked for his opinion as to Utah as a problable field for investment, he repiled that it was a great field if all the people will live harmoniously together. Eastern capital is moving to the West just as Northern capital is finding good investments in the far South. The East is so full of capital that an outlet must be found for it, and naturally the West, with its vast mines, its arid land susceptible of reclamation and the many other attractive features for investment will come in for its share of the distribution of this capital.

Too Farly to Talk Politics

Too Early to Talk Politics.

As to politics, Gov. Durbin said it was too early for national politics, but the next President would, of course, be a Republican, as it would be impossible for the other party to get together in time to make any sort of a fight. He also excused himself from speaking of the local conditions which are attracting so much attention here and throughout the country. He will leave Indiana for a trip abroad just as soon as he gets home. He and his wife are to sail on May 13.

Easy to Get Into, Hard to Get Out Of County Jail, as Set Forth by Attorney Weber.

Attorney A. J. Weber bore some touch ing testimony as to the condition of the jall at Price before Judge Armstrong vestorday. "It is very easy to get into and hard to get out of, as I found," said Mr. Weber. The case was a petition of Join P. Waldron and Earn Davis for a writ of habeas corpus. The men claimed that they were unlawfully detained in the penitentiary. The petition was eventually denied by Judge Armstrong, and the prisoners were remanded to the custody of Warden Pratt as custodian in behalf of Sheriff Hill of Carbon county.

The men are charged with robbery. They were in the Carbon county jall at Price awaiting trial. By order of the Board of Commissioners of Carbon county they were brought up to the State prison for better keeping. Attorney Weber, for the prisoners, contended that the officers had no right to keep the men in the penitary; that the Carbon county jail was reasonably safe. The Sheriff and I will admit that; we were both there," added Mr. Weber dryly. Mr. Weber's memories of the Carbon county strike are evidently vivid.

The court found there was good rease. The keeping the prisoners in the Sta prison, that they could be kept bett there. They were accordingly remanded.

The horse took fright on Main street and ran away at a terrific rate. Crowds collected all along the way to watch the horse, and followed him down the street. The rig came from a local livery stable, and was being driven by a youth employed at the place. The horse was not brought under control until it had reached the Jordan river. In that time, no cars happened to cross the path of the horse, and luckily no one was ran down, and the youth drove him back to town and to the livery stable. No damage was done.

WIRE TROUBLE THING OF PAST

Communication Again Restored.

Linemen Repair Damage Caused by Sunday Night Storm.

Both Telegraph and Telephone Got Holes Bored Through Yesterday Afternoon.

Linemen were hauled over mountains and down canyons all Sunday night and all day yesterday. As a consequence the wire trouble resulting from wind and electric storm was all past vesterday afternoon. The Western Union Telegraph company got through to San Francisco last evening and to the East earlier in the day. Yesterday afternoon the Postal Telegraph company picked up its wires. The two telegraph companies were both working with clear lines throughout northern Utah yesterday af-

Power Wire Tie-Up Broken.

Power Wire Tie-Up Broken.

The trouble with power wires was remedied much earlier in the day. The Utah Light and Power company's local tie-up was sooner broken, as was told in yesterday morning's Tribune. The whole thing was caused by a broken pole between here and Ogden. The company gets most of its power from the north, and part of it from Big Cottonwood and the Telluride Power company.

In case of trouble in the north the results are always bad for Sait Lake City, because this leaves a big shortage in power as long as it instead at the same time it is necessary to keep the power with the smelters. In northern trouble the only thing to do is to remedy it as soon as possible.

Railroads Suffered.

Railroads Suffered.

The railroads suffered extensively from the windstorm of Sunday night and yes-terday morning. All wires were down at Farmington, the place being that long unprotected swall where the wind sweeps down from the canyon to find a clear field to the lake.

Telegraph Service Restored.

At Ogden, however, the wind was at its worst, and in the yards the Harriman roads lost three immense poles carrying all their wires east, west and north, so they could not work in any direction. The linemen were out all night and most of yesterday straightening things out, but it was not until 9 o'clock yesterday morning that the first message came through to Sait Lake from Ogden, and later in day before all the wires could be restrung.

Brought One Blessing.

The people generally deplored the wind-storm, but last evening's sunset showed that it brought at least one blessing. Looking from the easiern hills to the Islands in the lake presented such a view as can not be duplicated anywhere in the world. It was clear as can be in any country, and the green trees and fields without any smoke, made the foreground equally attractive.

Dr. Talmage opened his lecture with a geographical discussion of the country, dealing particularly with its size, location and general character. He said in part:
"Though the world, as a result of modern inventions has become cosmopolitan, one feels himself indeed a stranger in a strange land when he comes into the interior of the land of the Cznr. And to know Russia you must go beyond the frontier and mingle with the people who live in the interior.

"The supreme law of the land is the will of the Czar. Absolute power is seldom safe in the hands of one main, for it is more likely to be abused than well used. Though we all wish to see the Russians free, the majority of them are not yet ready for freedom. Liberty must come to them gradually. Many of the lower classes are serfs and slaves by instinct and nature, and don't know what

"Russia is making history today. Although now engaged in a great war with Japan, the country is threatened by even greater dangers at home. The middle classes are wishing for defeat—it will be their opportunity to strike for freedom.
Much hope has lately been expressed for a Russian victory on the sea, but the leaders have publicly declared that it would be a misfortune to have the scales turned now, as it will only put off the revolution. Defeat abroad means victory at home."

Oscar Carlson and Elsie J. Ward Have Been Selected.

Oscar Carlson and Elsie J. Both are prominent stument exercises. Both are prominent students at the school and the honors came as a reward for hard work.

O. W. Carlson is probably best known as a debater and gridiron hero. Two years ago he represented the University successfully in a debate with Idaho, and next month he appears in a contest with Denver university. He is a solid student and a hard worker. When graduated from the normal course five years ago he enjoyed a similar honor. Miss Esies J. To Macadamize State Street.

State street is to be payed with macadam from Tenth South up. The Council voted to appropriate $200 and concur in the recommendation of Street Supervisor Seddon. A J. Davis and Black objected, on the ground that the street ought not to be payed unless the abutting property owners pay their share of the cost. President Hewlett said this matter had been before the Council for fifteen months now. The condition of State street in the winter had been a disgrace. State street was the means of communication between the farmers and the city. Black moved a substitute amendment to Black moved a substitute amendment to Hewlett's motion. He wanted to appropriate $100 instead, $200 of it to be used on Fast First South and $500 on East Second South. Black, A. J. Davis and Neuhausen were the only members to vote against the paving of State street. A letter from City Engineer Riter said that the cost of macadamizing the street, considering very little grading would be necessary, and the prisoners could be used to break the rock, would be about $200 a mile.

A short fight was made on the water main contract. By a vote of ten to three the Council approved the action of the Board of Public Works in awarding it to P. P. Ford & Co. of Denver for $19.319.

A J. Davis wanted to have it referred to the water works committee. He wanted to have the committee. He wanted to have the committee look into this matter of valves and hydrants, over which the dispute had arisen. His motion was lost by a vote of ten to five. A. J. Davis and Precee were the only ones to vote against the awarding of the contracts. The contract for grading North Main street was awarded to Joseph W. Mellen for $1250. The work is to be completed by April 20, 1907.

He had consulted the City Attorney, who said that the city must receive valuable and substantial consideration for any city ground. At the suggestion of President Hewlett, the veto was laid over for one week. The same was done with the Mayor's veto on allowing the King Hardware and Stove company to extend twelve inches beyond the building line. This also was vetoed, on an opinion from the City Attorney.

Revival Meetings Still Continue

Good Congregation Present Last evening at the First Methodist Church.

A good congregation for a Monday night was present last evening at the First Methodist church at the revival neeting. Dr. Paden of the First Presbyterian church presided, and the opening prayer was offered by Mr. Walker of the East Side Baprist church. Rev. Joinh McLean delivered the sermon.

The text which Mr. McLean chose was rom Paul's first sermon to the people at Antioch, when he said, "Through this at Antioca when he said, Infouga the man (Jesus Christ) is preached unto you the forgiveness of sins." The thought developed by Mr. McLean was that sin is something that man and woman needed and desired to get rid of, not because it interferes with the lives they lead, but because of the results of sin.

Business Man as Example.

Business Man as Example.

The business man was taken as an example. A man might sin and yet his sins might never interfere with his business. His sins might not even interfere with his getting into a church, for in every church there are men who do not have the right ideal and follow it, of Christ. Sin would not bar a man from entering into society. Many men who are morally bad are accepted by society as any other men. The real reason is that no man or woman can sin and not bring forth evil in some form. The greatest wrong which this sin creates is that it betrays the soul. It is not that sin interferes with business, society or church, but that it destroys a man inwardly.

Meeting of Pastors. Meeting of Pastors.

After the sermon a meeting was held of pastors and laymen to discuss the best methods of continuing the revival services. Tonight the sermon will be given by Dr. Wishard, and tomorrow night (Wednesday) by Rev. P. A. Simpkin. All meetings will be held, as usual, in the First Methodist church. WANT EXPERIMENT STATION.

Davis County Is Bestirring Itself to Secure the Farm.

cure the central agricultural experiment station authorized by the last Legislature. A meeting was held at Farmington resterday afternoon for the purpose. Adlresses were made by Simon Bamberger, William Frew, David Stoker, John Barnes, Peter Barton, Bishop Secrist and the County Commissioners. It developed that three farms were available for the purpose designed by the State. One is near Kaysville, another near Centerville, and the third at Bountiful. The law provides that the favored county must furnish free to the State a farm of at least sixty acres. All three of the farms mentioned are of the requisite size, and County Attorney I. E. Willey gave the opinion that It would be perfectly legal for the county to appropriate money to buy one of them.

The mass meeting voted unanimously that it was the sense of the taxpayers that the Commissioners should be authorized to make the purchase. Senator Bamthe County Commissioners. It developed that the Commissioners should be author-ized to make the purchase. Senator Bam-berger said it was the general opinion in the Legislature that Dayls county would get the experiment station.

Trustees of the Agricultural college, to whom the selection of a citle has been delegated, are also investigating the claims of Utah county, which offers an excellent piece of land near Provo. The selection will be made in a very few days.
